Q: MS Access 2003 VBA Select Case Statement I have a SQL query that I need to pull into a VBA script in MS Access. The query works fine, but I have a select statement with different values depending on a Case value. This works in SQL, but does not in VBA. Anyone know why? `SELECT (CASE ZOM_Job_ID WHEN '008E0000Y' THEN CAST(Cast(1 as VARCHAR) AS VARCHAR) +'' + CAST(CAST(ZOM_Operator as VARCHAR) AS VARCHAR) +'' + CAST(CAST(ZOM_Precip_Date as VARCHAR) AS VARCHAR) +'' + ZOM_Status END) AS ZomJob FROM Z_LOM`

A: When you use select query in VBA, you can't use CASE statement in the SELECT expression, you can use IIF (or Cstr or Switch), like below: `SELECT IIF(ZOM_Job_ID= "008E0000Y", CAST(1 as VARCHAR) +'' + CAST(CAST(ZOM_Operator as VARCHAR) AS VARCHAR) +'' + CAST(CAST(ZOM_Precip_Date as VARCHAR) AS VARCHAR) +'' + ZOM_Status, Nothing) AS ZomJob`

Q: Django 3.0.1 - Tutorials site not working I am trying to follow through Django 3.0.1. I've had no trouble through the first part where I set up the project environment and run the app on the localhost. Where I'm stuck is in the second part where I try to deploy to my main domain so that I can access the site. I've created an account on Github for the site so that I can post here. My question is essentially this: Have I installed Django and

Fig. 8 Change in activity and selectivity due to the addition of a side-reaction The change in selectivity in the full-cycle is shown in Fig. 9{ref-type="fig"}. The improvements in selectivity in each cycle result in a total yield increase of up to 100%. A summary of the comparison to previous works is shown in Table 3{ref-type="table"}. Fig. 9 Changes in selectivity in each cycle. \*Red numbers\* indicate  $q \sim s$  and  $q \sim p$  (mole per second) for the side-reactions. \*Blue numbers\* indicate  $q \sim p$  for the catalytic reaction

The material is also reusable in the ethanol reaction to produce pure ethanol. The material is reused four times with no change in selectivity. The reused catalyst is shown in Fig. 10{ref-type="fig"}. Fig. 10 Photographs of reused catalyst for ethanol synthesis The full reaction cycle is shown in Fig. 11{ref-type="fig"}. Fig. 11 Photograph of full reaction cycle To study the effect of loading in the catalyst, we varied the loading of the catalyst in the channel from 1 mg to 10 mg. A summary of the results is shown in Fig. 12{ref-type="fig"}. The loading of the catalyst has a negligible effect on the results. Fig. 12 Effect of loading on selectivity for ethanol production The effect of flow on the stability of the catalyst is shown in Fig. 13{ref-type="fig"}
