29.7K Shares IUPAT, the union representing most of Ontario's nurses, is demanding $100 million in new funding for front-line health workers if the province of Ontario moves ahead with an austerity budget. According to a report from the Canadian Press, nurse representatives say the cuts would have a devastating impact on the front-line and leave the province's healthcare system weaker than it already is. One of the driving forces behind the nurses' complaints is the removal of funding for outreach workers, which are now employed by front-line health-care facilities to improve patient services and address vulnerable populations. Nurses are also upset with plans to cut funding for information and support services. “The absence of a strategy to develop a province-wide I&S system over the past seven years has resulted in a crisis in care delivery for vulnerable populations,” said to suicide as a discrete disease, and transitions between major depression and PTSD were effectively detected among those with other diagnoses, thus providing indicators of co-morbidity [\[\[@B28\]\]](#). More recently, two studies have demonstrated an association between suicidal ideation or attempt and a diagnosis of PTSD in children [\[\[@B29\]\]](#), and in a sample of youths who had experienced life-threatening illnesses [\[\[@B30\]\]](#), respectively. For our sample, although information regarding previous suicide attempts was queried, only one out of the 50 adolescents made a suicide attempt, before developing PTSD. Interestingly, although PTSD does not directly trigger suicidal thoughts, it may increase the risk of attempting suicide [\[\[@B31\]\]](#). Finally, in both settings, a greater percentage of girls on antidepressants had PTSD in the PTSD group, although this finding was not statistically significant in both (Figure [\[1\]\(#F1\){ref-type="fig"}](#)). Nevertheless, many children are now being prescribed antidepressants before or simultaneously diagnosed with PTSD, however these observations require confirmation in a larger sample study. Taken together, these observations suggest that PTSD should be taken into consideration in the evaluation and treatment of

“... I was kind of expecting to get the same experience as Elder Sign with like magic, but I think that Elder Sign did a better job in that regard. As far as I was concerned the graphics were really nice, and there was an RPG element to the game, but I never wanted to do any of the puzzle solving. ... If you're looking for some fun RPG and horror action, then pick up Elder Sign or Elden Ring Crack. If you want to get some puzzles in your mix, but prefer to go it alone or with a multiplayer co-op partner, then you'll enjoy Cracked Elden Ring With Keygen.”-The Massive Voodoo “The atmosphere was kept good and really nice to look at. The story was interesting and full of role playing possibilities, very detailed for an RPG.”-Frog PrinceQ: Playing video in iPhone app with the same time code How can I play a video without any time lags? After watching this video on YouTube I don't know how to do it. I'm using MPMoviePlayerController and when the user tap the play button the video starts playing but it looks like a lag. Is there a way to fix this? EDIT: I'm using AVPlayer and this is the code: `_video = [[AVPlayer alloc] initWithURL:videoUrl]; [_video seekToTime:CMTimeMakeWithSeconds(2, 1)]; [_video play];` A: First, make sure AVPlayer gets its reference to the AVPlayerItem from the AVPlayer, and not a MPMoviePlayerController. Get the reference to the AVPlayerItem object from the AVPlayer instance. `NSArray *videos = [NSArray arrayWithObject:[AVAsset assetWithURL:videoURL]]; AVPlayerItem *item = [videos objectAtIndex:0]; [[AVPlayer playerWithItems:@[item]], self] play;` In order to know what time code to put in, you'd need to know what format the video is in. For example, you might want to try something like this. `CMTime startTime = CMTimeMakeWithSeconds(2, 1); [[item asset] seekToTime:startTime]; - - (void) play { AVPlayerItem *item = [AV bff6bb2d33`

Thank you.Q: Limit:  $\lim_{n \rightarrow \infty} \int_n^{\infty} e^{-x} \sin(x) dx$  Find the value of  $\lim_{n \rightarrow \infty} \int_n^{\infty} e^{-x} \sin(x) dx$  We have :  $\int_n^{\infty} e^{-x} \sin(x) dx = \left. e^{-x} \sin(x) \right|_n^{\infty} - \int_n^{\infty} e^{-x} \cos(x) dx$  But how I integrate limit in this? (I know the result is 0 but I want to know how to manipulate it) Thanks. A:
