transportphenomenafundamentalsplawskypdf31 3.pdf In this article, we will describe only what, as it seems to us, concerns everyone who is interested in the problem of the origin of life. We have tried to present our own thoughts and interpretations, which are based on facts and which seem logical to us. We do not claim that this is the final and final answer to the question of the origin of life. We hope that this article will point the way for further research in this direction.
